

Name _____ Date _____

Writing Self-Assessment

Directions: These questions will help you review the process you used to write a paper. The best time to use this is immediately after you have published or presented the final version, while the experience is still fresh in your mind. You may wish to review your answers to these questions before you write your next paper.

Title of Paper _____

Type of Writing _____

Date Begun _____ Date Completed _____

1. I used the following strategy for choosing and narrowing my topic:

2. How successful was this strategy? Would I use it again? How would I change it the next time?

3. How did I gather information for this paper? Was this an efficient and productive method? What other method might I have used?

4. How did I decide on the organization for the information I gathered? Was this a good strategy for making that decision? Are there other strategies that might have worked better?

5. The prewriting activities that helped me the most when writing the draft were

6. In revising and editing my draft I tried to focus on _____

